HDMI Type "A" female-to-female connector with pigtail and integrated plate, black, Simon 400. Black HDMI Type "A" female-to-female connector with pigtail and integrated plate, part of the Simon 400 series. Simon 400 is a series of mechanisms ideal for both flush and surface mounting, distinguished primarily by its highly innovative aesthetics that integrate perfectly into all types of environments. This connector can be installed flawlessly in rooms with temperatures ranging from -5 to 60ºC, approximately, although it can withstand extreme temperatures exceeding 60ºC, making it ideal for all climates. Additionally, maintenance of this HDMI connector is very simple: to clean it, you only need to wipe it with a soft, dry cloth, avoiding any abrasive cloths and/or cleaners containing chlorine in their formula, as this could cause damage and impair proper function.
