Description

The design of this retractable white double frame subtly adapts to various decors, providing a touch of modernity and functionality. Its robust structure not only ensures a long lifespan but also allows for harmonious integration into environments where aesthetics and efficiency are paramount. This frame is especially useful in electrical installations, where the need for a neat and clean finish is paramount. Its retractable capacity facilitates access to internal components, simplifying maintenance and cable management, contributing to a safer and more organized environment. The choice of white color, in addition to being timeless, helps reflect light, creating a sense of spaciousness in the space. Its careful and technical design allows it to adapt to various configurations, ensuring it remains functional without sacrificing aesthetics. In short, this frame not only serves a practical purpose but also becomes a key element in creating orderly and visually appealing environments, where every detail counts and contributes to the overall performance of the system.
