

Product sheet

Reduced Hexagonal Brass Extension MH - M1" - H1 1/2", GENIL.

Brand: GENIL

Reference: GIB 002914

Made of brass, this hexagonal fitting offers male and female connections, ensuring a secure and durable connection. Its versatile design allows it to adapt to a variety of applications, making it a reliable choice for installations requiring strength and efficient fluid flow.

View product online

Description

The MH reduced hexagonal brass extension fitting is an essential piece in plumbing installations, designed to efficiently connect pipes of different diameters. Made of high-quality brass, this extension fitting guarantees durability and corrosion resistance, making it a reliable choice for various applications.

- Material: Brass, known for its strength and durability.
- Shape: Hexagonal, making it easy to handle and adjust during installation.
- Connections: Male-female mouths, allowing a secure and stable connection between pipes of different diameters.
- Measurements: M1" - H1 1/2", adapting to specific reduction needs in piping systems.
- EAN13: 8432453002914, for easy identification and reference in inventories and catalogs.

Specifications

EAN	8432453002914
Material	Latón
Thread	1/2"

If you have any questions, contact our support team

Item downloaded on 15 September 2026