Standard Thermocouple - 1200mm, JUNKER

Brand: JUNKER

Reference: GIB 000956

This 1200 mm thermocouple offers a reliable solution for temperature measurement in a variety of industrial applications. Its versatile design allows it to adapt to different installation configurations, ensuring optimal performance in demanding environments. Ideal for those seeking precision and durability in their processes.

Description

The 1200mm standard thermocouple is an essential component in temperature control systems, designed to provide accurate and reliable measurements in a wide range of industrial applications. This device is compatible with a variety of equipment and adapts to different needs thanks to its versatile and robust design.

- Thermocouple length: 1200 mm
- Supports various installation sizes
- Includes 5 assorted installation threads for added flexibility
- EAN13 Code: 8432453009569
- Durable construction for long-lasting performance
- Designed for demanding industrial applications
- Provides accurate and reliable temperature measurements
- Easy to install and maintain
