The Brennenstuhl-1153340315 Super-Solid power strip is a reliable and robust solution for protecting your electrical devices. Designed to offer effective protection against power outages, this power strip can withstand surges, indirect lightning strikes, and electrical noise, with a protection capacity of up to 13,500 A. Its high-strength polycarbonate construction ensures durability and safety, while its practical design allows for easy installation, especially in tight spaces such as under tables.

The power strip features an indicator light that shows the surge protection status, providing peace of mind to the user. Furthermore, its 45° angled outlets and ample spacing between them facilitate the connection of multiple devices without interference.

The non-slip rubber feet ensure stability, and the illuminated ON/OFF safety switch allows for easy and safe control of the power supply.
