The Brennenstuhl Comfort-Line Plus power strip is an efficient and practical solution for managing energy in the home or office. Designed with an innovative flat plug, this power strip saves significant space, making it ideal for environments where space is limited. Its plug features a flip-up hook that simplifies the unplugging process, making disconnection quick and effortless. The power strip is equipped with six outlets, arranged at 90°, providing ample spacing between them. This feature is especially useful for connecting devices with side-mounted plugs and large chargers, preventing the problem of overlapping plugs. Furthermore, its design allows for fixed mounting on walls or various supports, offering installation versatility. Safety is also a priority in the Comfort-Line Plus, which includes an illuminated ON/OFF safety switch, allowing for easy and visual control of the power supply.
