The Bremounta power strip from Brennenstuhl is a power solution designed to offer both functionality and style in any environment. Its elegant design complements a variety of décor styles, while its robust construction ensures durability and safety. With a 90° socket arrangement, this power strip allows for ample spacing between outlets, making it ideal for connecting devices with side-mounted plugs and large chargers. Its ability to be permanently mounted on walls or brackets makes it perfect for optimizing space in offices, homes, or commercial settings.

The ON/OFF safety switch, which includes an indicator light, provides additional control over the power supply, ensuring that devices are always protected.

With an IP20 protection rating, this power strip is suitable for indoor use, offering a safe and efficient solution for all your electrical connection needs.
