Description

The STAK-ST005-HORACIO LED flashlight is a versatile and functional tool designed for everyday use. With a powerful, true white light, this flashlight offers excellent visibility in a variety of situations. Its integrated zoom function allows you to adjust the focus for near or far vision, adapting to the user's needs. It also features four light modes that facilitate its use in different environments and lighting conditions. The 395 nm UV light is especially useful for detecting leaks in air conditioning systems, as well as for identifying pet urine, counterfeit banknotes, jewelry, and collectibles. It is also ideal for verifying documents such as ID cards or driver's licenses. Made with an aluminum alloy body, this flashlight is shock and rust resistant, guaranteeing durability and reliability in use.
