Description

The 1000 grams Vatton Mango Fiber square mace is a professional percussion tool designed to ensure durability and power in intensive stonework and construction.

Technical characteristics

- Total weight: 1000 grams
- Head: High strength forged steel
- Mango: Glass fibre with non-slip rubber coating
- Design: Square head for maximum stability
- Vibration index: Very low, reducing user fatigue
- Weight distribution: Optimum head-to-handle for dynamic balance

Its robust construction allows working effectively with hard stone chisel and propelling other impact tools without risk of deformation, offering superior reliability in demanding environments.

The installation or handling is direct: firmly fasten the coated handle to ensure a secure grip and control the force of the stroke by adjusting the position of the hand according to the hardness of the material to be worked.
