Description

The Handlock 3 Numbers Red Combination Padlock is a high-strength security device designed to protect accesses without the need for physical keys. Its digital opening technology allows you to configure a customizable code, ensuring a flexible and secure management of access points.

Technical characteristics

- Arc made of high strength tempered steel
- 10-digit three-reel system for code configuration
- Opening mechanism by customisable numerical combination
- Compact design with dimensions of 30mm
- Remarkable and functional red colour
- No key required for your operation

This lock offers a robust solution to secure lockers, luggage, trunks, cupboards and doors. Its construction in tempered steel ensures durability against forced opening attempts, maintaining the integrity of the mechanism.

The installation is simple: configure the desired code according to the manufacturer's instructions and place it at the access point. It does not require additional tools or complex maintenance, facilitating its daily use in residential or commercial environments where immediate security and accessibility without keys are sought.
