Description

The 80W Küken Vacuum Packaging Machine is a compact device designed to extend the shelf life of food through air tight sealing and efficient air extraction. Its intelligent suction technology allows you to handle both dry and wet products without damaging their texture, ensuring optimal conservation in any type of domestic or professional cuisine.

Technical characteristics

- Nominal power: 80W
- Suction power: 65 kPa
- Sealing systems: vacuum, manual and unique
- Compatible material: dry and wet food
- Accessories included: 10 sealing bags
- Interface: built-in countdown display

Thanks to its hermetic sealing capacity, food preserves up to ten times more freshness than conventional storage methods. This packaging machine is essential to maintain the nutritional quality and original taste of perishable products for prolonged periods, avoiding oxidation and bacterial growth.

The installation is immediate by connecting the equipment to a standard power supply. For handling, simply place the food inside the included bags, close the lid and activate the cycle using the intuitive control panel to initiate the suction process and automatic sealing without complications.
