Description

The BARBI Multipex PPSU 20-20x2 elbow is a component designed for connecting pipes in plumbing facilities. It is made of PPSU, a polymer that offers high thermal and chemical resistance, ensuring durability and protection against corrosion in the driving system.

Technical characteristics

- Material: PPSU (high thermal and chemical resistance polymer).
- Dimensions: 20x2 mm.
- Mark: BARBI.
- Function: Safe and efficient pipe connection.

This elbow allows a simple installation without the need for special tools, facilitating the assembly in heating systems and drinking water. Its design ensures reliability and optimum performance in construction projects, maintaining the integrity of the pipeline network over time.
