Description

Extruded aluminium diffusion grid designed for the precise regulation of air flow in air conditioning systems. Its structure allows the range and vein of air to be adjusted according to the specific needs of the space, ensuring an efficient and controlled distribution.

Technical characteristics

- Material: Extruded aluminium
- Dimensions: 500x100 mm
- Colour: White
- Standard frame of 26 mm
- Horizontal and vertical moving slats
- Individual regulation of slats

The mobility of the slats facilitates the adaptation of the air flow rate, optimizing the thermal comfort and energy efficiency of the ventilation or air conditioning system.
